About the session

Garment production is an organized activity consisting of sequential processes such as laying, marking, cutting, stitching, checking, finishing, pressing and packaging. This is a process of converting raw materials into finished products. It will be difficult to maintain the industry if production is not up to the mark if the preproduction phase of preparation of material is not properly carried out.

The workshop focuses on demonstrating the steps of garment manufacturing such; Receiving Fabrics, Fabric Relaxing, Spreading, Form Layout, and Cutting, Laying, Marking, Cutting, Embroidery and Screen Printing, sewing, checking, Spot cleaning and Laundry, Fusing & Pressing, Packaging and Shipping.

Outcomes: Product development is the lifeline for adding new buyers as well as retaining the existing ones. With product strategy being a vital part of the overall business strategy, it is vital for garment manufacturers to adapt to global requirements. Product development not only includes adapting to changing product design and requirements but also adhering to the short product development cycle. Modern innovations such as the digital product development process using virtual technologies, provide the opportunity for companies to shrink the product development cycle time from months to days. Also, with the concept of long-term partnerships, buyers prefer to source multiple products from a single manufacturer who can cater to different products. Such partnerships ensure a consistent supply to brands as well as ensure profitability for manufacturers through consistent flow of orders. Hence, product development is not just one key success factor but an inevitable part to survive in this global competition.
