About the workshop

The workshop was organized on "Copyrights and Patents" on 20 th Sep 2018. Total 19(Nineteen) participants of SoET, SoM, SoAS and SoVET participated. This workshop focus was on to make participants enlighten skills to apply for patenting and protect copyright of the innovation achieved through research. Copyrights and patents provide legal grounds for ownership and the right to pursue legal recourse if someone infringes on your idea. Otherwise, people can go around stealing ideas and creations and selling them as their own. It's hard to prove that one person had an idea over another, which is why most artists and businesses apply for protection the second they create something new. Patents, typically utility patents, and copyrights are both types of intellectual property that grant rights to creators and inventors and protect their work from being exploited without their permission but differ in the type of property they protect. Business success hinges on ideas.

Objective of the workshop:

This workshop focus was on to make participants enlighten skills to apply for patenting and protect copyright of the innovation achieved through research.
