About resource person: Dr. Smita Mishra Panda is professor and Director Research of Centurion University of Technology and Management. She has done Ph.D. in Gender and Development Studies at Asian Institute of Technology.

About the Session: The workshop was organized on “Innovation Ecosystem and Patents” on 18th Nov 2017. There were a total of 19 participants from SoET, SoM, SoAS and SoVET. The main goal of the workshop was to bring awareness on various aspects involved in the Innovation Ecosystem and Why filling patents will be beneficial in this fast-technical evolution era. An innovation ecosystem consists of economic agents and economic relations as well as the non-economic parts such as technology, institutions, sociological interactions and the culture.

Objectives:

- To explore the evolutionary process of ecosystem under both radical and incremental technological changes based on a patent analysis

Outcome: The workshop educated the participants about how the evolution of technology has become the mainstream of the current technological innovation era. It developed awareness on various aspects involved in innovation Eco and Why filling patents is beneficial in this fast-technical evolution era. The resource person concluded that the existing approaches to model innovation ecosystems have been mostly restricted to qualitative and small-scale levels or, when relying on traditional innovation indicators such as patents.
