

Employment opportunity in rural area

Generation of employment, especially in rural sector, should follow an inclusive growth having a natural consideration for gender, community, seasonality and policy as well. Employment generation again has got spatial ecology and economic characters along with gender mainstreaming. The shimmering problem unemployment is not only in Indian economy but also across the world. As per ICAR report, 42% of the farmers are ready to quit agricultural operation given an alternative occupation are appearing in their agrarian eco-system. Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) is a breakthrough to combat rural unemployment. This is a book for the academicians, researchers, rural development administrators, NGOs, voluntary organizations and personnel engaged in rural development. The development practitioner who are interested to conduct research and want to utilize the multivariate statistics to analyze and measure the direction of variables for making sound judgement, this book will surely be a tool for them.

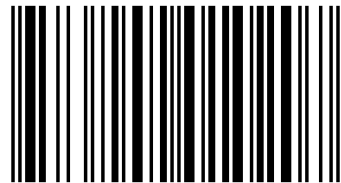

Prof. (Dr.) J K Das, Ph D Born on 12th December, 1956, Prof. Jayanta Kumar Das, Professor Emeritus, Department of Agricultural Extension, Centurion University of Technology and Management, M S Swaminathan School of Agriculture, Gajapati-761211, Odisha, India. He has got to his credit authorship 4 and chapter contributions to 10 books.

Role of MGNREGA in livelihood generation

Employment opportunity in rural area

Jayanta Kumar Das
Suvajit Mondal
Jayasree Datta

978-620-2-01020-7

Das, Mondal, Datta

 LAMBERT
Academic Publishing