Report on
Career Communication Phase III (SOM)
24th November 2017

Personal or Individual counselling (sometimes called psychotherapy, talk therapy, or treatment) is a process through which faculties work with students in a trend of one-on-one with a trained mental health clinician in a safe, caring, and confidential environment. Counselling allows individuals to explore their feelings, beliefs, and behaviours, work through challenging or influential memories, identify aspects of their lives that they would like to change, better understand themselves and others, set personal goals, and work towards desired changes. The event was organized on 24th November 2017 and the number of students enrolled were 99.

Discussion in Breakout Rooms, 24th November 2017

It focused on the students:

- Immediate or near future concerns.
- Individual counselling may encompass career counselling and planning, grief after a loved one dies or dealing with problems

- One-on-one discussion between the counsellor and the student, who is the person seeking treatment.
- The two form an alliance, relationship or bond that enables trust and personal growth.
- Removing negative thinking from the student's mind.
