Academics become more interesting when various teaching learning pedagogies are practiced along with the routine chalk and board technique. One of the learning outcomes is presentation skill of students. Emphasizing to enhance the presentation skill a general syllabi topic was selected for School of Management students.

All students were asked to prepare posters and charts to explain the topic. 96 students participated in the event. They prepared posters either individually or in-group of two. In total 50 posters were presented.

Faculty members and students of various departments visited the event, which made it more interactive. Students expressed their concepts and also this gave them a chance to represent multiple times to varied audience.

Two experts from the field of management had judged the competition. Three positions were declared on the basis of concept and presentation skills.

All over event was fruitful with the suggestion from students to repeat such events in future.

The following page provides a few snapshots of the event.
