A Report of Seminar on NATIONAL MATHEMATICS DAY

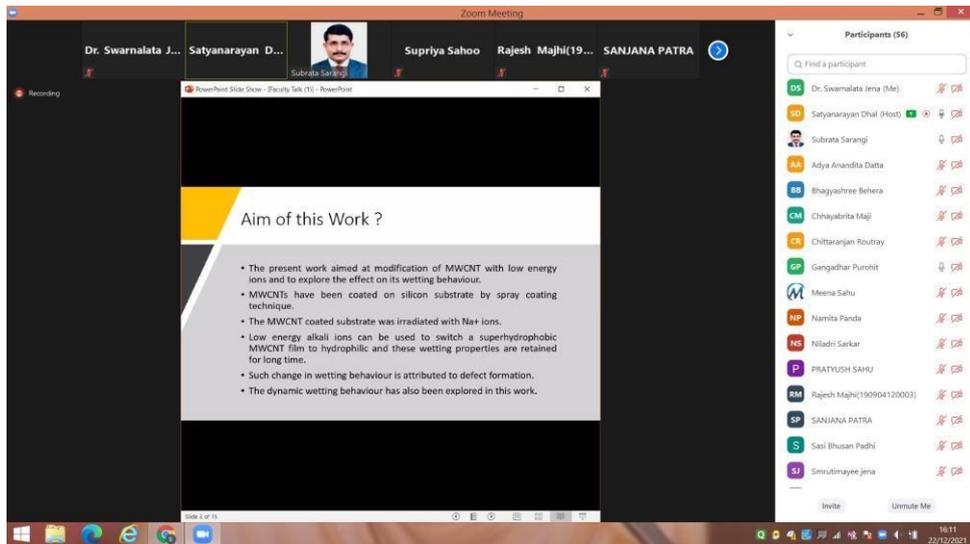

Participants :- 28

22nd December, 2021

On the occasion of NATIONAL MATHEMATICS DAY, a Seminar was conducted under Department of Mathematics, School of Applied Sciences, organized it on 22nd December, 2021 on the topic “A brief overview on population dynamics.” The invited speaker Prof. Seshadev Padhi, Professor in Mathematics, BIT, Mesra, delivered a talk on the above topic. He explained in his talk how to use different statistical tools to interpret different characteristics of population dynamics. Also he pointed out from the life history of Ramanujams that nothing can hinder to learning. If interest is there, then everything can be possible. In the inaugural session, Dr. Tumbanath Samantra, HoD, Mathematics Department, presented the welcome address. Prof. Dipankar Bhattacharyay, Pro-VC, Research & Learning has joined the session as Chief Guest. He explained in his talk about application of mathematics in each and every field of science, engineering and daily life. Dr. Yashaswi Naik, Dean, School of Applied Science, addressed the vote of thanks. All the students of master & bachelor degree and faculty members of School of Applied Science across all campuses of Centurion University were attended the session. A
