About resource person: A 2-Day Discovery Workshop on Contributor's ideal was organized on 10th and 11th July 2017 in the CSREM Seminar Hall. 20 Faculty from School of Engineering, School of Management and M.S.Swaminathan School of Agriculture participated in the workshop.

Ms. Sudeshna Das and Ms. Joyeeta Sengupta were the Resource Persons from Illumine Knowledge Resources Pvt. Ltd., Mumbai.

The interactive workshop provided space for reflection on the 'contributor ideal' where an individual seeks and aspires to contribute to self, to organization and to society. Every organization, team and family needs a contributor. Conscious recognition of contributors is an essential factor in the development of ethical life. The workshop focused on the 'being level' where one feels internally empowered. It provided a model where one can explore the opportunities to contribute in different spheres of life.

Deliberations

- Who is a Contributor?

- The possible scope of contribution
- The possible depth of contribution that one can make

Everybody is contributing, but the reasons for their contribution are different. The workshop ended on a note to widen the scope of contributions to self, to organization and to society.

Shared experiences, pair work, group discussions and presentations on the need for contributions, recognizing contributions and becoming contributors were some of the engaging activities. Participants were provided with three facilitated engagement books and a Contributor Program App.
